Great Britain Seems on Eve of Great Labor War

NATIONAL STRIKE OF COAL MINERS IS DUE AS MINES GO BACK IN PRIVATE CONTROL

Owners Announce Reduction in Wages to be Effective
Immediately

DRIVE TO NATIONALIZE MINES TO BE REVIVED

Men Contend Operators' Offer
Would Not Grant Living Wage

By EARL C. REEVES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

LONDON, March 31.—Great Britain is on the eve of a new labor war. A national coal strike, effective tomorrow night, seemed inevitable today.

The mines, which have been operated under government control and government subsidy since the war, are to be turned back to private owners tomorrow. Anticipating this action, the mine owners announced wage reductions.

The miners refused to accept the wage cut and threatened to strike if they were put into effect. The operators contend that the wages of the miners have been raised to such a point that, under private ownership, the collieries would be operated at a loss. They point out that the operating deficit last month was $35,000,000. It was proposed that 80 per cent of the gross receipts be turned over to the miners in the form of wages, but the men contend that this would not give them a living wage.

It is probable that the campaign for nationalization of the coal mines will be renewed.

Cardinal Gibbons Is Laid to Rest

(International News Service)
BALTIMORE, Md., March 31.—In a crypt beneath the high altar of the ancient gray cathedral hard by the baptismal font to which his parents brought him 87 years ago, James Cardinal Gibbons, priest, prelate, a patriot and dean of cardinals in the Roman Catholic church was laid to his long rest today.

FROST TONIGHT

Frost is the dish the Weather Man will serve North Alabama residents tonight, if the skies clear, according to a warning issued this afternoon. Fair weather is predicted for Friday.

Birmingham Liquor Expose is Keeping "Chemical Analysis Experts" Busy Now

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, ALA., March 31.—Grape vine reports from Birmingham during the past forty-eight hours indicate that the expose of the methods of making moonshine whiskey has caused consternation among the makers and consumers of the beverage.

The consternation among the makers has been due to the falling off of the demand from the fearful ones, while the consternation of the consumers has resulted from the unusual prices now being levied for the stuff that made Mr. Volstead famous.

When Montgomery began reading the reports it believed the expose would break up the liquor market and would bring prices tumbling down. But not so. A Birmingham man in Montgomery today told of a peculiar entry on the statement he received the day before for his latest purchase of liquor. The bill called for the popular price, which has been

DAMAGE DONE TO FRUIT CROPS IN U. S. SMALL

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—Damage done to the fruits by the recent cold wave should not send the prices of fruit up materially according to advisers reaching the Department of Agriculture today.

Although reports to the department are not yet complete, it was stated that the fruit crop surplus of the country, as a whole, has not been materially affected despite reports of heavy damages in some sections.

The recent cold wave, according to preliminary reports, did no extensive damage to the fruit crops in New England, New York, Michigan and the Great Lakes. The Pacific coast and the extreme South.

FRESH CLASHES IN INDUSTRIAL BELT OF "RHINELAND"

(International News Service)
BERLIN, March 31.—Fresh clashes between communists and German security police were reported from the great Rhineland industrial belt today.

Employers throughout all Germany have issued an ultimatum to the workers to return to work before midnight tonight; otherwise they will be dismissed.

A band of armed reds attacked the industrial town of Gelsenkirchen, in West Thalia, but were driven off by security police. Four hundred communist prisoners were captured by the security police in a battle at Remscheid.

At Bremen a mob of 25,000 reds attempted to storm the shipyards and force a general strike. Fires broke out in the shipbuilding plants but were extinguished. The number of red prisoners captured by the security police in all quarters of Germany now total 3,000.

The damage will extend into hundreds of millions of marks. At Launa, alone, several million marks damage was done when the security police opened fire with artillery against the industrial parts in which the reds were barricading.

Tusculumbia Editor Is Local Visitor

Walter F. Miller, editor of The Colbert County Reporter, Tusculumbia, was a Twin City visitor today, enroute home from Anniston where he attended the state convention of the Woodmen of the World. Mr. Miller is being favorably mentioned as a candidate for secretary of state in the next Democratic primary.

charged for sometime, but just below was another entry: "To chemical analysis, five dollars." This bootlegger was wise enough to employ a chemist to make an analysis of his liquor and doubly-wise in levying the cost of the analysis against the ultimate consumer.

This Birmingham expose is expected to cause those who imbibe regularly to incur the expense of a retainer's fee to chemists. In fact, it would seem the business of chemistry should be flourishing in the future.

Another interesting story resulting from the expose was: It seems the bootleggers have a union about Birmingham. There are non-union bootleggers, too. The union bootleggers are putting the blame for the liquor on the non-union leggers, contending that their own liquors are up to the standard. This same Birmingham man said he was told by a union bootlegger that, for the sake of his life and health, he should not patronize a non-union bootlegger.

STAGE IS SET FOR BIGGEST FIELD DAY AS SCHOOL KIDDIES PREPARE TO MEET

Thousands of Children Expected to Participate in the Program Friday

MORNING TRAIN WILL BRING BIG CONTINGENT

Lunches Will be Served by the Parent-Teachers Association

Barring adverse weather conditions, the stage was set today for the biggest field day in the history of the Morgan County schools when thousands of school children of the county were expected to arrive here early Friday to participate in the program. Reports received during the week from practically every school in the county indicated that delegates will be here from almost every community. Hundreds of the visiting kiddies will arrive overland early Friday, while another large contingent will reach here on the morning accommodation from Hartselle, Falkville and neighboring communities.

The parade of the children, which was scheduled to be one of the features of the day, will form at the Albany passenger station on the arrival of the accommodation. The visitors who arrive on that train will form in line immediately being joined then by the children of the schools of Albany, Decatur and other delegations who will have already reached here.

Many Contests
After the parade the staging of the one hundred or more contests will begin at once. The contests include athletic and literary competitions. Handsome prizes have been donated by the business men of the county for award to the winners. Several basketball games will be played by some of the strongest cage teams of the county.

Lunches will be served on the Gordon school grounds by the Parent-Teachers Association.

GERMANS PROTEST TO THE LEAGUE ON ALLIED PENALTIES

(International News Service)
GENEVE, March 31.—A German note, protesting against the allied indemnity penalties and the further occupation of German territory by allied troops, has been received by the League of Nations, it was announced today at the headquarters of the league.

At the London conference, Dr. Walter Simons, head of the German delegation, announced that Germany, although not a member of the League, would protest to the League against the allied action.

The German indemnity delegates took the attitude that the penalties were a violation of the treaty of Versailles.

ENCAMPMENT HELD BY ODD FELLOWS IN BANK STREET HALL; FORLINE IS HONORED

Regalia is Presented, Signifying
Special Services to the Lodge Here

TEARS FLOW DURING TOUCHING CEREMONY

Odd Fellows Declared to be Largest and Richest Secret Organization

The Decatur Lodge No. 26, of the fraternal Brotherhood of Odd Fellows, held their annual encampment last night in Odd Fellows Hall, Bank Street. The meeting was well attended, by men, women and children of the lodge, and at the close of the speaking appetizing refreshments were served, and an orchestra furnished pleasing music.

The event of the evening of most local interest was the presentation of a regalia, signifying special service to lodge 26, to S. G. Forline, for 14 years scribe of the organization. The regalia, showed by initial letters, that Mr. Forline was a Past Grand Master, Past Grand Patriarch, Patriarch Militant, and an honorary member of the Rebecca lodge. The presentation was made by Rev. Guy F. Ponder, who had come all the way from his preaching station in Marion county, to perform that service. Mr. Forline was visibly affected, he could not restrain the tears as he told his comrades that he had only "tried to do what little he could," and of what a surprise it was to him to be so honored.

Grand Master Presides.
The encampment meeting was called to order by Grand Master W. L. Hatchett, who after prayer by Rev. Ponder, delivered a heartening welcome address. The first speaker to be introduced was Hon. L. N. Buell, of Cullman, head of the Odd Fellows home at that place, and the Grand Master for the State of Alabama. Mr. Buell, appeared somewhat frail in body, but he proved himself to be of large faith, and possessed of a big heart. He declared that the Church of Jesus Christ was the only divine institution in the world, and that the Odd Fellows held no belief contrary to its teachings. He told his hearers that he was determined to raise the proposed $250,000 endowment fund for the Cullman orphanage. He said he had the same faith of Saint Theresa, who when asked what her three pennies could do replied: "Theresa and the pennies can do nothing; but God and the three pennies can do every thing." He said the Odd Fellows was the largest and richest secret fraternal order in the world, and that aside from the 57 orphanages it maintained, over seven million dollars was paid out annually in benefits, or at the rate of 23 cents a minute. According to Mr. Hatchett, in his introductory, Mr. Buell himself was raised in an Odd Fellows home.

Pollard Speaks.
Henry C. Pollard, of Huntsville, Grand Secretary for the Odd Fellows in Alabama, was the second speaker. He drew special reference to the efficiency of the lodge work in Decatur, Albany, Fairview and Austinville. He said that Fairview lodge, possessed the best read Odd Fellow in the whole connection. He said that his name was Ryan, and that he knew the ritual by heart, and had been especially honored by the grand lodge. Mr. Pollard, who proved a pleasing speaker, told the life story of a number of men, prominent in the nation who had been reared in Odd Fellow homes. He said he rested his faith on the Bible truths; and that the one—"Once I was young, but now I am old but never have I seen the righteous forsaken or his seed begging bread" was especially cherished by all.

Morris, commercial agent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was on the stand all of Wednesday in the hearing of the petition of Ida Smith, negro, from her vantage point in a cell in the Morgan County jail this morning, no doubt, is reflecting upon the woman's intuition and gameness which led to her incarceration.

INES ARE DRAWN FOR FIGHT TO KEEP SOLDIERS' TRIALS IN WALKER COUNTY

States Attorneys Bring Up New Point for Submission to High Court

CONTENT CHANGE OF AS GRANTED WAS VOID

Supreme Court Expected to Render Decision at the April Term

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., March 31.—In its effort to prevent the removal of the cases of the nine national guardsmen charged with the lynching of Will Baird, striking miner, in Walker county January 13, the state will insist that the petition for the original change of venue which was granted and resulted in the trial of Sergeant Robert J. Lancaster in Marion county, was never legally submitted and that the trial of Lancaster in any county other than Walker was void.

The state made this allegation in its brief in opposition to the writ of prohibition filed by attorneys for the defense against Judges T. L. Sowell and J. J. Curtis of the Walker circuit court. An indication of this contention appeared at the trial of Sergeant Glenn R. Stephens, which was called in February, but the facts did come out until the state submitted its brief in opposition to the writ requested by the defense.

Harwell G. Davis, attorney-general, and Judge Horace C. Wilkinson, assistant attorney-general, contend that the cases were never legally moved from Walker to Marion county because the defendants in person did not file the petitions for a change of venue. The petitions were made and sworn to by Lucile D. Gray, an attorney for the soldiers, and the state contends that the constitution and laws of Alabama provided that such petition must be made and sworn to "by the defendant."

Various decisions are cited by the state's brief in support of this contention. With the argument that this construction is correct, the state's brief proceeds to argue that the cases were never legally moved from Walker county and that therefore they now remain in that county for such disposition as the court may make.

A further argument is that even if the cases were legally moved originally, the nonprossing of the indictment returned the cases to Walker county for a change of venue is granted. Various authorities are cited in support of this contention, also.

Attorney for the defendant will prepare a brief in reply to the state's brief before April 7, when Judges Sowell and Curtis must answer under the command of the supreme court. They will contend that if there was any defect in the petition for a change of venue it should have been made known to the court by demurrer of the state and that the time has now passed when the state could raise the point.

The defense will also insist that all jurisdiction of the Walker circuit court was lost when the change of venue was granted and that not only did the original cases pass absolutely to the jurisdiction of the Marion county circuit court, but that all other cases against the same defendants charging the same offense likewise passed to Marion county and that therefore the trials of the soldiers on the new indictments must be held in Marion county and cannot be held in Walker county.

Yesterday she is said to have been her husband.

ILLITERACY ON DECREASE NOW IN OL' ALABAMA

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 31.—Illiteracy is decreasing in Alabama, according to a report issued by the Census Bureau today.

The report shows that of the total population of Alabama, there are 278,982 illiterates of 10 years of age or over, these unable to write being considered illiterates.

The percentage of illiterates among negroes was 31.3 per cent in 1920 as compared with 40.1 per cent in 1910.

SENATOR PENROSE TRIES A POLITICAL TRICK ON NEGROES

By J. BART CAMPBELL,
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, March 31.—A far reaching political effect is predicted by both Republicans and Democrats leaders today will result from the declaration of Senator Bois Penrose, member of the Republican national committee from Pennsylvania, a titular Republican leader of that state, for "equal rights" for the negro.

Acting largely under orders from Penrose, the House at Harrisburg has just passed a bill which provides that negroes in Pennsylvania may patronize hotels, cafes, educational institutions and amusement places on equal terms with whites.

The measure would severely penalize those who own or conduct "public utilities or accommodations" for refusing negroes to access to them or denying negroes the same privileges accorded whites.

"I see no reason why a negro should be denied a cup of coffee at a lunch or cafe frequented by whites, just because his color happens to be different from theirs. I see no reason why he should be turned away from a hotel or residence just because he is black. Surely he must have a place to eat and sleep," Senator Penrose stated today.

Democratic senators from the "Solid South" were swift in criticizing Penrose's utterances. While most of them declined to be quoted for publication, several of them like Senator Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, strongly condemned the equal rights idea advanced by the Pennsylvania senator.

A number of Penrose's colleagues expressed concern regarding the political effect the declaration would have. Penrose insisted, however, he did not have "social equality" for the negro in mind. He explained that neither did the negro want "social equality."

All he desired is "fair and just treatment in public places."

Negro With Saw Concealed in Cake is Arrested by Wife of the Chief Deputy

Ida Smith, negro, from her vantage point in a cell in the Morgan County jail this morning, no doubt, is reflecting upon the woman's intuition and gameness which led to her incarceration.

The negro was arrested yesterday by Mrs. Robert Stewart, wife of the chief deputy, following the negro's appearance at the jail with a cake for a prisoner, the cake containing one hacksaw among its other ingredients.

According to officers the negro was accustomed to bringing meals to a prisoner held in the jail.

Yesterday she is said to have been her husband.

GLENN E. PLUMB SPEAKS TONIGHT AT THE MASONIC

The announcement that Glenn E. Plumb is to speak at the Masonic Theatre to night, brings it within the power of every citizen of the Twin cities to hear one of the most talked of men in America today. His plan for Railroad management, has been denounced, as "bolshhevik" and all that, but one would hardly expect to hear the doctrines of the foolish Linn, and the military man, Trotsky, preached by a Presbyterian Elder, and Mr. Plumb is just that thing, at least Mr. Plumb said he was to a local delegate who heard him speak last spring in Montreal Canada. Plumb, is reported to have been heard with much interest at Montreal, and that at the close of his speech he received an ovation. Many of the highest governmental officials of the Dominion of Canada, heard Mr. Plumb on this occasion. First consideration will be given to the ladies tonight, in the matter of furnishing desirable seats. No admission is charged and no collection will be taken.

HOW FAR ARE WE FROM HOME?

A weary traveller used these words as a twentieth century limited train was carrying him from Chicago, to his home near Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The speaker was John Burroughs, American Naturalist and Author.

It turned out that those pathetic words were his last ones in this world. His earthly body fell, a few moments later never to rise again. The press writer on board Mr. Burroughs' train, said after the great man's death, that as the train was delayed in Chicago, the feeble man—he was in his 84th year—was nervous and depressed, but that as the engine carried him on, until he came to the fields and forests, that he loved so well Mr. Burroughs revived, and was his cheerful self once again.

He made light of his illness of some weeks previous, and said that he was only taking the "rest cure." He had planned to attend his own birthday reunion with old friends, and that was why he was on an Eastbound train when the end came.

The question naturally arises, "Why did a man like John Burroughs, a Cosmopolitan—known in every country and in every large community of the world, and who it would seem should have been at home anywhere, ask longingly for his own home and the place of his birth? The answer is not far to seek. The "homing" instinct is an eternal one; and sane, normal minds like that of Mr. Burroughs believed this truth and realized that indeed "a charm from the skies hallow us there."

How much more natural and thoughtful was the sentiment expressed by the Naturalist, to the flippant remark we hear so often—"We can go home when we cannot go any where else." Such remarks as the last are mostly made in jest and amount to but little; but there are sentiments and thoughts being expressed today in disparagement of the home, that are meant in dead earnest and if they prevail will disestablish the American home, and in its place establish "social centres," public feeding places and the like.

Such people would make civilization, consist of meat and drink—mostly drink of the beer variety—and cause the home to depend on the state instead of the state resting on the homes of the land. It is idle to define the attitude or state the plans of these unnatural and unregenerate people, for if the truth is told on them, they will immediately deny it. The only safe way to deal with the fakes social uplifters, is to ignore them, and their advice precisely as you would ignore fake doctors and their remedies. But the misguided—those who unlike Mr. Burroughs, have not felt and thought deeply enough to appreciate the sacredness of the home are not to be considered outcasts; as they are in need of help they should be helped. They are weak in the faith. They should be received, but to "doubtful disputations."

ANOTHER DREAM COME TRUE

The official announcement from Washington and Lee that a school of journalism for that University is to be established in the near future will come as welcome news to every forward looking man and woman of the entire nation; but especially to every person living south of the Mason and Dixon line. The announcement to the press of the country was made by Dr. Henry Louis Smith, President of Washington and Lee, and Executive Secretary of the Committee of Confederate Veterans, named by the old soldiers to insure the establishment of the school. Dr. Smith made the announcement, upon his return, after an extended tour of the nation, to Lexington, Va., the seat of University which is named in honor of both George Washington and Robert E. Lee.

While on this visit Dr. Smith laid it upon the minds and hearts of the editors of the South especially, as a commanding duty they owed to the nation, to see to it that the $100,000 needed to establish the General Lee school of Journalism should be assured at an early date. Although he made no mention of it in his recent statement that the department is a certainty, it is doubtless a fact the required amount was either subscribed out right, or definite assurance given that it would be ready as needed. An eloquent appeal made by Dr. Smith, and one which he used when he presented the opportunity now at hand for the editors of the South to do a mighty work for the rising generation, and for the glory of their profession is transcribed in part as follows:

Of all the many learned professions that of the editor is, in our present stage of civilization and democracy, incomparably the most influential. The teacher of today confines his efforts to young people five days in the week during a few years of youth; the editor teaches the whole population seven days in the week, 365 days in the year, through their whole lifetime. The preacher tells a selected few on Sunday how to act; the editor preaches to everybody every day. The doctor is called in every now and then; the lawyer at long intervals; the engineer and architect still more rare; but the editor is the welcome guest, ad prophet and interpreter on all occasions under all circumstances. Nothing is more important to the nation than the training, is in reality an establishment of the college of Journalism of Washington and Lee, as opened by General Lee in 1869, during the time he was president of the University. Lee was the first man, at least in America, to recognize Journalism as a learned profession, and in an important and proper sense he may be called the father of professional Journalism.

The new school is to be known as "The Robert E. Lee Memorial chair of Journalism." According to plans the first $100,000 is to be but the beginning of the great work, and "as the school grows other endowments could be added, and increasingly adequate facilities provided."

FIGURING INCOME TAX

"To figure his income tax." Neal O'Hara says "a man must be a mathematician. A chap who can figure out how much he owes the government for making the world safe for democracy can make home brew without any fear of explosions."

After sleepless nights and days of torture, if a man finally succeeds in figuring out the sum of his tax, he has to be a wizard to find the money to pay it with. Because all year long he has been paying taxes whenever he took his wife to the moving pictures, bought soothing syrup for the children, or purchased tooth-paste for himself, and in a thousand and one other ways.

The politicians of our Nation, State, City and Town apparently have one glorious objective—to see that no humble citizen finally escapes with any real money on his person. And to prevent him from earning the money in 1921 to pay what should be paid out of his 1921 income, he must give over his best hours to computing something like this, as Neal so quaintly remarks.

Computation of taxes. Net income. Plus your street number, minus the average temperature of your flat, divided by the complexion of your cook . . . if you have no cook, subtract the square root of your suspenders and apply an anesthetic . . . Do you believe in tobacco ads? . . . What time do you get in nights. (Men with $2,000 exemption not required to answer. They don't get out nights.)

Income form Business or profession. What kind of business is rotten with you? . . . Did you ever think of trying bootlegging? . . . What is your business address? At what address did you receive your valentines? . . . How many wolves are on your front veranda? . . . Total—(Items 257 to XVIII, from left to right in the order named, deducting 100 per cent Americanism. Do you talk to the motorman?) If you are confused, turn to page 319 and deduct the prepositions. You should now owe the government money.

Did you ever stop to think that the politicians who inflict these things upon us are elected to their proud offices by our suffrage? If we could ever stop worrying about theoretical and hypothetical questions, and foreign complications which actually concern us remotely if at all, forget race, creed and party, and elect men to office not on the basis of how well they can do us, but upon the platform of how well they can do for us, we should have something approaching the free country we are supposed to live in.

It is just the lack of cooperation and common sense in the exercise of our right to vote intelligently that invites bolshevism and most of the other social evils that may threaten us.

Our forefathers gave us, many of them at the expense of their lives, a sound form of government based upon that greatest of all bonds. The Declaration of Independence and how have we kept our faith with them.

It is the duty of every man who reads this to write to his National and State representatives, protesting against the over-burden of taxation and demanding economy in the conduct of public business.

But most of us will let George do it. How would it be for every man who has aggressiveness enough to act upon this suggestion to drop a card to the Editor saying, "I am with you and I have made my protest as I believe every American citizen should do.—Public Service Monthly.

"MARSE HENRY" PROPOSES TO LAUNCH A NEW PARTY

In quitting Galveston, where he spent the winter with his family because he was driven away from Florida by the rapacity of hotel keepers, "Marse Henry" Watterson addressed a farewell to the people of Texas through the Houston Post. In one paragraph he says:

Excuse me, but did I hear you say you still call yourselves democrats? It is to laugh, dear boy. There is no democratic party, no republican party—just two empty old bottles bearing two wornout fraudulent labels. I am going to organize a new and real party. It shall be select from the ground up. No girls, except those that wear their skirts below the knees, and their waists above their collarbone. No blue laws or blue stockings or repressive legislation. And whoever says "prohibition," "shoot him on the spot."

Don't every speak at once. The new party proposed by Colonel Watterson might indeed "fill a long felt want," but where would he get recruits? The women won't join unless fashion decrees that they wear long skirts and high waists. There is nothing to indicate that fashion proposes to do anything of the sort. That leaves out the women voters, except possibly a few hapless females whom nature compels to be conservative in their dress, since disclosure in their case would be more painful than concealment.

Eliminating blue laws, blue stockings and repressive legislation and, last but not least, prohibition, would leave the colonel with a mere corporal's guard to storm the redoubts of the enemy. One gets the impression from a cursory survey of the American people that reform is in the saddle and the bluer this country can be made the happier everybody will be.

"Marse Henry" has not lost his sense of humor and his proposal to launch a new party in his way of protesting, with characteristic vigor, against a "world gone to pot," but it promises no fulfillment because the colonel would never, if he lived to be thrice his present age, make peace with the Anti-Saloon league, the official whip of the prohibitionists. mingham furnaces for an order requiring the railroads entering Birmingham to reduce their tariffs on coal, coke, iron ore and limestone consigned to this class of industries. Mr. Morris took the stand Tuesday afternoon and has offered the public service commission a mass of exhibits and testimony in support of the railroads' contention that the rates now charged for the transportation of these commodities in Alabama are much less than those charged in the other industrial states.

Two Arrests.

Agents of the state constabulary have arrested two persons and confined them in the city jail of Andalusia as a result of the removal from his home Saturday night of Elma Nelson, who was carried away by four persons about eleven o'clock that night and who has not been heard from since. Report of the arrest received by headquarters of the constabulary today did not give the names of the persons under arrest.

Nelson had only recently married a widow who had four children. She informed constables that four men came to the home late Saturday night, that two remained outside and two entered and dragged Nelson from the house. A few minutes later four shots were heard, followed by screams and then silence.

Mrs. Nelson said she heard the men returning a short time afterward. She took the four children and left the house, tramping most of the night through the woods. A thorough investigation and search have been made by constables and county officers, but no trace of Nelson has been found.

Constables received information that Nelson and certain other persons of Covington county had engaged in a dispute over the ownership of a still and that this may have brought about the affair.

River Bank Raided.

J. M. Harris was arrested on a house boat on the Alabama river and a quantity of moonshine liquor confiscated by state constables today. A short time afterward the constables raided a still on the banks of the same river just across the river from the Montgomery terminal station. The still, a thirty gallon affair, was confiscated and removed to the capitol where it was on exhibition during the afternoon.

M. F. Prestwood was arrested in an apartment house later in the day and charged with violating the prohibition laws. In his room were found a small quantity of liquor, a quantity of morphine and a hypodermic needle.

City Loses Fight

Citizens of Dothan today lost their fight to force the reinstatement of a contract for the furnishing of fifteen hundred continuous horse power of electric energy to the city of Dothan by the Georgia-Alabama Power Company. The Public Service Commission held that the two parties had terminated the contract October 1, 1920, and it had no authority whatever to require a municipality to carry out a contract.

In an extensive opinion the commission said it had no jurisdiction whatever over municipalities which operate public service plants, such as electric plants and water plants. The opinion said the commission desired to exercise whatever jurisdiction it had received by law, but did not in-

Survey is Made of L. &amp; N. Sections

A survey of living costs in territory served by the Louisville and Nashville railroad is being made by two experts of the road, according to information received here from Gadsden where the experts were Wednesday. It is understood that comparative figures regarding the cost of living for several years past, as compared with the present, will be tabulated by the investigators.

BUICK

FOR years the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply—even when Buick production mounted to 500 cars daily.

Because of the material curtailment of motor car production this winter, the country faces a decided shortage of quality cars this spring and summer.

Consequently Buick dealers are advising motorists to place their Buick orders now because orders must be sent to factory months in advance of delivery.

The reason why the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply is more pronounced than ever in the 1921 Buick. Coupled with the noted Buick power and dependability are added riding comfort, easier control and a beauty and grace that fittingly express Buick worth.

Authorized Buick Service insures full return on Buick investment.

Do You Know a Baby Sick With Constipation

Tell the mother to give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

NO thoughtful mother with children in the house will risk being without a good, reliable laxative. It will save many a serious illness, many a doctor's visit.

When the baby cries and is fretful, when the boy has no appetite and won't play, when the girl is listless and feverish, when there are complaints of headaches and colds, the mother can suspect constipation. Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the small dose prescribed on the bottle, when you put the child to bed, and with morning the ailment will have disappeared.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a popular compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. It acts gently and mildly, and children take it without objection. A sixty-cent bottle is enough to last an average family many months. The ingredients are endorsed in the U. S. Pharmacopoeia, and last year American mothers bought over eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from druggists. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and few cautious families are ever without it.

CLEANEST-TOWN-CONTEST

Advice to housekeepers:
If you wish your garbage and trash collected, put them in receptacles deposited in the alley, and the wagons from now on will make regular trips. You will know what day to have everything ready.

Do not throw cans or other rubbish in the alley, but use a box or a barrel, and buy a new garbage can from the city, they have covers and are the proper kind to use.

Let us make Albany the "Cleanest Town", and keep it clean!

The States inspectors will not be here immediately, it may be a month before they can visit all the towns that entered the Cleanest-Town Contest.

Clean up, and keep clean until then. Get the habit, and keep clean afterwards.

Make our city both sanitary and beautiful.

Each one is a part of the whole, if you fall short it injures all and Albany!

INDIANS OF CALIFORNIA FACE
STARVATION AS RESULT OF
WHITE MAN'S GAME LAWS

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 31.—John Lago, otherwise known as "Chief White Day" and "Rivers Gould," a Digger Indian, has appealed to Governor Stephens in behalf of the 15,000 Indians of Northern California, who they said are on the verge of starvation, landless, destitute and afflicted with disease.

The two Indians came from the Pitt River country, where they said conditions among the aboriginal Americans are particularly bad. What they are asking for specifically is an amendment to the State fish and game laws that will permit native Indians to kill deer and catch fish out of season for food purposes.

They told their story to Mrs. Albright, assistant secretary to Governor Stephens, and to Frank Newbert, of the State Fish and Game Commission, in the Governor's office.

According to Lego, the game of their district is the only food resource for many of the Indians and he said they are confronted with the alternatives of breaking the law or starving.

"Our children are lucky if they have as much as one digger squirrel to eat in a whole day," said Lego.

"What is the use of keeping the deer for white city sportsmen when we who used to own all the deer need them for food,"

He contradicted a statement by Newbert that, owing to the operation of the game protective laws the number of deer in the State had greatly increased during the past ten years.

Newbert argued that it would be impossible to make an exception in the killing of deer for the benefit of the Indians without opening the way to a general slaughter, in season and out.

Lego replied that if the Indians could again come to regard the deer as their special property they would be anxious for their conservation and would become the best possible allies of the Fish and Game Commission in preserving the herds.

Tears filled Lego's eyes as he spoke of the thousands of deer that formerly ranged the hills and the sparse herds of the present.

Newbert said that while the commission would have to oppose an amendment of the laws, he would endeavor to seek relief for the Indians and expressed the opinion that there were thousands of sportsmen in the State who would be glad to contribute to their aid.

Lego sought out Senator Duncan, of Butte County, whom he referred to as "My Adze," to introduce a bill covering the desired amendment. Duncan said he would prepare such a bill for introduction in the Senate.

Lego is a Chippewa Indian who came to California years ago from Minnesota. He said he had been chosen spokesman for all of the tribal remnants in Northern California. When it was suggested to him that he remain in Sacramento until the proposed bill could be brought before the Fish and Game Committees of the Legislature he said that he and his companion had no money on which to live here, and they were even without the necessary railroad fare to get back to the Pitt River country.

PERMIT DRUGGISTS TO GET LIQUOR IN ANY QUANTITIES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Wine and whiskey for the sick can now be withdrawn by retail druggists from bonded warehouses to meet all reasonable demands. Orders were issued by Revenue Commissioner Williams today, authorizing druggists, beginning tomorrow, to withdraw in certain amounts as are needed to meet their requirements.

The new instructions modify an order issued January 28, limiting withdrawals to five cases of liquor on a single withdrawal.

Druggists hereafter will be permitted to draw up to 100 gallons of whiskey and 100 gallons of wine every three months. They will be allowed to withdraw in larger amounts, Commissioner Williams directed by furnishing satisfactory proof with the prohibition directors that larger quantities are necessary to meet their trade demands. Officials declare the sale of beer and wine by wholesale druggists will not be restricted as is in the case of whiskey.

Under the law as it now stands, one pint of liquor only can be sold upon a doctor's prescription. In the case of wine, however, the physician's judgment prevails and the amount he specifies as necessary for a patient can be sold by a druggist.

Women artists are now allowed to compete for honors in the American Academy at Rome.

Thoughtful Address.

Rev. Guy F. Ponder, formerly clerk of the city of Albany, made a very thoughtful address, and touched on many of the great problems now before the world. He said that Christ declared that He was "the way, the truth and the life" and that men must personify the truth. Rev. Ponder referred interestingly, to his war service in Europe, and said that the friendly hand grasp of Odd Fellows "over there," proved a great blessing to him.

THOUSANDS OF UNEMPLOYED WOMEN AND GIRLS IN ENGLAND STRUGGLING FOR EXISTENCE

By EARL C. REEVES
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, March 31.—Unemployment among women and girls in England is reaching a point of desperation, according to Miss Margaret Bondfield, secretary of the Women's Trade Union League. She will pause in her struggle to find a way out to give facts and figures with the deadly accuracy and precision of an adding machine, enlightening them with specific instances of hopeless individual struggles for existence.

In England there are registered a total of 600,000 women and girls who are totally unemployed or who work only one or two days a week. The figure for totally unemployed, a quarter of a million, has been increasing by about 10,000 each week.

"Unemployment is still on the increase," Miss Bondfield said, "and we have every reason to expect that it will become worse."

Many Pitiful Cases.
"One of the most pitiful cases reported is that of an orphan girl who served two and a half years in munition work during the war. Last week she registered at a labor exchange. There alone 4,000 women and girls were registered, and there were twenty-five jobs available. In utter despair she attempted to commit suicide. She is now being befriended by a woman almost as poor as herself."

"All over the country the period during which unemployment benefits may be drawn is ending. Hundreds and thousands are losing their last chance of obtaining maintenance. We are putting pressure on the Government to act at once and extend the period of maintenance."

"All this unemployment is having a disastrous effect upon the standard of life. Simultaneously a definite attempt is being made to reduce women's wages. It is driving us to despair."

"All the work we have done is now being threatened, and whole groups of women are being driven back to such wages as they received before the Trade Boards Act of 1909. It is an object lesson to women on the importance of organizing themselves in industry, but meantime the poorly paid groups are bearing the brunt of the attack."

"We are asking, to meet the immediate case, the extension of unemployment benefit and immediate placing of contracts which would ordinarily be given out later in the year. A great deal of distress would be relieved if the Government and local government boards would at once place contracts for clothing, foodstuffs and so on."

War Workers Idle.
"We are also campaigning to have women share with men in the various training schemes. There are large numbers of girls and women who did war work during the period when they would normally have been in training for domestic service. They have no training for domestic service and cannot find employment."

"This class tried to remain in industrial work after the war in preference to entering domestic service. They are now only too willing to enter the trade which they formerly avoided, and are anxious for training."

Although there has been a crying demand for good domestic servants, the labor exchanges have 23,000 unemployed women listed for such work, an overwhelming majority of them totally untrained.

The flag which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the Star Spangled Banner is now in the old National Museum at Washington, D. C.

Amusement

THRILL AND CHARM IN BUCK JONES PLAY.
(Delight Today.)
Those who love to be thrilled, who can be charmed by pure romance, who can laugh at clear, clean humor, should not fail to see the cyclonic Fox star Buck Jones in his latest picture "Just Pals," which opened an engagement at the Delite Theatre today.

Buck Jones is certain to add materially to his reputation by his clever portrayal of Bim, a "nobody" and the principal character in this stirring story of the western country—a story replete with thrills, romance and humor, and giving the star a role more interesting, perhaps, than any he has yet had.

ANITA STEWART IN
"HARRIET AND THE PIPER" PRINCESS TODAY.

The most dazzling assortment of jewels and gowns ever worn by Anita Stewart will be seen when her latest First National picture, "Harriet and the Piper," opens an engagement of 2 days at the Princess Theatre, beginning today. In one scene she appears as a "queen of Greenwich Village," wearing a bizarre princess costume, heavily laden with gems and beads, and displaying a brilliant feathered headdress. The settings, which are true reproductions of Greenwich Village studios, were arranged by Director Bertram Brackton, who made a special trip to New York's famous Bohemian quarter to get atmosphere for the production.

JUDAH P. BENJAMIN AS QUEEN'S COUNSEL.

New York Evening Post.
Not for the first time, as the news reports declared, but for the second, an American lawyer has "taken silks." Robert Newton Crane, just appointed by letters patent to be "one of his majesty's counsel learned in the law," is the original American king's counsel, it is true, but we have been represented in this third highest post of the British bar before, Judah P. Benjamin, when he ceased to figure in American history, became famous abroad as an unquestioned leader of British legal opinion—queen's counsel for ten years, from 1872.

One of the most courageous figures and most capable officers of the Confederacy was Judah P. Benjamin. He was Jefferson Davis' high counselor, at first his attorney general and then his secretary of war. But it seemed to the South that he made terrible mistakes in his conduct of the campaign around Roanoke Island in 1862. All the criticism which his course aroused he bore in silence, like Lincoln's secret service man in "The Copperhead." He could have explained, but he kept his secret inviolate. The reason, tragically hidden by circumstances, was that the Southern stores of ammunition were low, and the secretary of war would not let the North find that out. So he sealed his lips and lost his reputation among Confederate military men.

Before his espousal of the lost cause Benjamin was offered the attorney generalship of the United States by one President and a seat on the supreme court bench by another. He became a leader of the American bar. The Civil War changed his whole career and at the last brought him high fame. When complete defeat came and the Confederate cabinet left Richmond, he destroyed the bulk of the secret service papers of the Confederacy, escaped from the coast of Florida in a small boat, and soon was sailing from the West Indies to England, to begin his life anew at the age of 55. A cautious reticence urged him to spare no effort to thwart all biographers, but he attained such eminence that his legal triumphs at least could not be hidden from the world.

Reaching England absolutely destitute, his property lost by confiscation, he speedily conquered his hard fate. In 1882 he retired from his post as queen's counsel, leader of the British bar as once he had been of the American, with an income of more than $100,000 a year. He was the author of one of the ablest law treatises of English jurisprudence.

S. A. Moses Locates in Albany

S. A. Moses, an optometrist of note graduate of one of the best northern colleges of Ophthalmology, and charter member of the Alabama State Optical Society, has come to Albany to make his home and opened a very modern optical store at 217 Johnson street. Mr. Moses is registered in Morgan county and his shop is equipped with every scientific instrument known to the profession of optics.

In a letter dated Feb. 15, 1921, J. H. Tindler, secretary-treasurer of the Alabama State Optical Society, speaks of Mr. Moses as follows: "He is well qualified as an optometrist, is registered as such in this state and to the best of my knowledge and belief has always been ethical and honest in his practice. He is a gentleman of high character, honest and reliable in his dealings with his fellow men and enjoys the confidence and esteem of the people in the community (Tusculocsa) in which he has been located for years."

The Moses optical store is open for inspection as well as business and Mr. Moses invites you to make him a visit. He carries the highest grade of goods made in the U. S. in lenses as well as frames. He tests your eyes in the most scientific manner, then sends the formula to a factory in Atlanta where expert workmanship is assured. By so doing, Mr. Moses believes that the best glasses are obtained.—Adv. M29-30-31.

To be judged ten years older than you actually are, is the tell-tale of gray, streaked hair, which detracts from a youthful appearance as much as a wrinkled face does.

Without injury to hair or scalp, "Brownatone" imparts natural, lasting colors that defy detection. Does not rub or wash off, and requires just a few moments to apply. Guaranteed absolutely harmless. # The American Legion

What it is--
Its ideals and--
What the local post is striving to accomplish--
A plea for public support, insofar as concerns the patronage of the Legion pictures and shows at the Princess Theater:

1. Fellow citizens and friends:—Following is the preamble to the constitution of the American Legion, which explains to you why we exist as an organization, what we are and what we propose to do:

PREAMBLE

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:
To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent. Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

2. We plan to own a building in which to hold our meetings, one that you, as citizens of the community, can point to with pride. The plans as they are outlined call for a building with a large swimming pool and a gymnasium, two things that the general public has never had access to. To accomplish this we must have money.

3. Mr. Cagle, as the management of the Princess theater, has offered to cooperate with us in that he will allow us to show at intervals the best pictures and shows that we can obtain.

4. We will show at the Princess next Monday and Tuesday, April 4-5, pictures of the Rainbow division in action. You will see your "own" boys in "E" company, Fourth Alabama infantry, that took its place in the greatest fighting machine ever assembled. This is a picture you cannot afford to miss.

5. For Monday and Tuesday, April 18-19, "The Devil" will be shown with Mr. George Arliss. Newspaper critics say this is a magnificent production.

6. On Monday and Tuesday, May 2-3 we will show "Kismet," one of the most wonderful pictures that has ever been shown. Then for Monday and Tuesday, May 16-17 we will offer to you a show, "Katcha Koo," produced by local talent, under the direction of one of the largest producing companies in America. This is something that you will enjoy too.

7. As the dates for other shows are made we will give them to you through advertisements.

8. In bringing these shows here we hope to offend no one, and our earnest desire is to give you value for the price you pay for your ticket.

9. The Legion has been given a berth in the Twin City Baseball League and other baseball games, with outside teams are planned for the summer. We hope the public will liberally patronize these contests.

10. Locally, we are going to make ourselves a factor for good. We have a civic pride and we want to work for the good of the cities in which we live. We want you, as individuals, and as a community, to call on us whenever we can be of service to you.

11. I wish to thank you—everyone—in behalf of the Morgan County Post for your patronage of the two pictures we have shown and for your attendance to those to follow.

Respectfully yours,

L. E. McGregor,
COMMANDER,
Morgan County Post, American Legion.

Campaign for Destruction of Means of Existence in Ireland Laid To British by American Commission

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 31.—The British government will take official cognizance of the charges made by the American commission on conditions in Ireland, whose report, published today, after several months' hearing, strongly condemns the British-Irish policy. It was announced that the British embassy will enter an official statement on the commission's report late this afternoon.

(International News Service) NEW YORK, March 31.—The findings of the American Commission on Conditions in Ireland as contained in the interim report issued today, after detailing the history of the committee's investigations, sets forth in conclusion as follows:

We find that the Irish people are deprived of the protection of British law, to which they would be entitled as subjects of the British King. They are likewise deprived of the moral protection granted by international law, to which they would be entitled as belligerents. They are at the mercy of Imperial British forces which, acting contrary both to all law and all standards of human conduct, have instituted in Ireland a "terror," the evidence regarding which seems to prove that:

1. The Imperial British Government has created and introduced into Ireland a force of at least 78,000 men, many of them youthful and inexperienced, and some of them convicts, and has incited that force to unbridled violence.

2. The Imperial British forces in Ireland have indiscriminately killed innocent men, women and children; have discriminated assassinated persons suspected of being Republicans; have tortured and shot prisoners while in custody, adopting the subtleties of "refusal to halt" and "at tempting to escape," and have attributed to alleged "Sinn Fein Extremists" the Irish assassination of prominent Irish Republicans.

3. House burning and wanton destruction of villages and cities by Imperial British forces under Imperial British officers have been countenanced, and ordered by officials of the British Government, and elaborate provision by gasoline sprays and bombs has been made in a number of instances for systematic incendiarism as part of a plan of terrorism.

4. A campaign for the destruction of the means of existence of the Irish people has been conducted by the burning of factories, creameries, crops and farm implements and the shooting of farm animals. This campaign is carried on regardless of the political views of their owners, and results in wide-spread and acute suffering among women and children.

5. Acting under a series of proclamations issued by the competent military authorities of the Imperial British forces, hostages are carried by forces exposed to the fire of the Re-alleged publican army; fines are levied upon towns and villages as punishment for alleged offenses of individuals; private property is destroyed in reprisals for acts with which the owners have no connection, and the civilian population is subjected to an inquisition upon the theory that individuals are in possession of information valuable to the military forces of Great Britain. These acts of the Imperial British forces are contrary to the laws of peace or war among modern civilized nations.

6. This "terror" has failed to re-establish Imperial British civil government in Ireland. Throughout the greater part of Ireland British courts

SERIOUS DAMAGE NOT DONE BY COLD

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.) MONTGOMERY, ALA., March 31.—Reports received by the state agricultural department indicate that no serious damage was done by the cold wave which spread over central and south Alabama Monday night. The cold was not serious enough to damage fruit and other products and M. J. Allgood, commissioner of agriculture, expressed the opinion that vegetables and crops already planted could stand even more serious cold weather due to the warmth in the ground at this time.

No information has come from north Alabama in sufficient quantities to hazard a statement about the crop conditions of that section.

Commissioners Named
Governor Kilby today announced the appointment of Robert F. Farre of Cropwell as a member of the jury commission of St. Clair county for the term ending in 1923.

The Governor also appointed T. J. McGowan of Brewton route A a member of the jury commission of Decumbia county for the term ending in 1924.

Emptied Liquor.
A negro servant at the home of Jesse Reynolds evidently knew something was about to happen when state constables called yesterday because he promptly and expeditiously emptied two pints of corn liquor into a sink. Reynolds was arrested on a charge of violating the prohibition laws.

Driver of Wagon In Bomb Plot is Found, is Report

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 31.—William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice left Washington today for New York, following reports that the driver on the mysterious ramshackle wagon which figured in the Wall street explosion has been found. According to one version of the great explosion it was caused by a wagon load of high explosives driven to the corner of Broad and Wall street, where some construction work was in progress, and deliberately planted there by the driver who disappeared. Labor troubles was back of the plot, according to the theory.

Warning is Given Nation's Railroads

WASHINGTON, March 31.—"An arbitrary reduction in wages of railroad workers will get the railroads into 'deep waters'," was the warning issued today by William H. Johnston, head of the International Machinists Association, which has jurisdiction over a large part of the railroad shopmen and a member of the executive board of the railroad employees department of the American Federation of Labor.

Johnston's statement came as President Harding began personal consideration of the railroad situation. Other labor leaders here, though refusing to be quoted, predicted that a general railroad strike would follow wage reductions.
